

15 January, 2024

Powerhouse Parramatta: confirming flood insecurity of site

After years of warnings to those in government who insisted on the Parramatta riverside site for the relocated Powerhouse Museum, recent rains confirmed the insecurity of the site for a museum that is meant to care about its collection.

Parramatta Advertiser published that: 'Work has paused on the Parramatta Powerhouse Museum as rain soaks the riverbank site and much of Sydney. Construction of the $767m museum was suspended from December 22 to January 3 for the Christmas-New Year break but weather forced it to stop again today. An Infrastructure NSW spokeswoman said the work would resume once it was safe.' See their Facebook link with photo HERE.

Spstnorodf1lh01426ff2516imaf9mhffg171mal9212h2l07am78m3itg

ALSO: See dozens of angry comments from readers on various related Facebook pages.

And see earlier news reports over recent years, here on our PMA website:

powerhousemuseumalliance.com

Parramatta Advertiser

Spneotsdrmh1522j7hummmyu32a1a08h 15 4r9 :c2cn011a25t3lc100u ·

Work has paused on the Parramatta Powerhouse Museum as rain soaks the riverbank site and much of Sydney. Construction of the $767m museum was suspended from December 22 to January 3 for the Christmas-New Year break but weather forced it to stop again today. An Infrastructure NSW spokeswoman said the work would resume once it was safe.